

EAERE's position concerning associations at country or regional level

EAERE welcomes initiatives of establishing associations at national or regional level and aims to be a platform for all its members, including those who are organised in sub-groups.

The Board of EAERE country representatives is the vehicle of communication between EAERE and national communities. EAERE does not have national nor regional chapters, but EAERE is interested in cooperating with national/regional associations. Cooperation can take place in many different ways, for example:

- EAERE can appoint the president of national/regional association as country representative;
- EAERE can post the link to the national/regional associations in its website;
- national/regional associations can propose special sessions within our annual conferences; the Association can facilitate this process;
- national/regional associations can organise informal side events within our conferences; the Association can facilitate this process;
- some associations offer a personal discounted membership fee for EAERE members.

There may also be other ways, and the EAERE Council is always open to discuss this with country representatives and with leaders of regional/national associations.
